The question has often been asked why the Wright brothers were able to succeed in an effort in which so many others had failed. Many explanations have been mentioned, but three reasons are most often cited. First they were a team. Both men worked well together, read the same books, located and shared information, talked incessantly, about the possibility of manned flight and served as a consistent source of inspiration and encouragement to each other. Quite simply, two geniuses are better than one.

They were both glider pilots also. Unlike some other engineers who experimented with the theories of flight, Orville and Wilbur Wright experienced the practical side of their work by building and flying kites and gliders:

- (i) What kind of experience did the Wright brothers have?
- (ii) How did they work together?
- (iii) Tell the names of Wright brothers.
- (iv) Give the meaning of the following words from the passage-

(i) Cited,                      (ii) Incessantly,                      (iii) Consistent,                      (iv) Craft.
